HASH TRASH

It is a truth universally acknowledged that the hash trash never lies. What you are about to read either has happened, is happening now, or will happen at some time in the future. Or nearly, anyway.

Heartstarter and Overproof went all out for the BNH3 Remembrance Day run. Not only was there a drink stop for those who ventured beyond the confines of the letterbox, but the piece de resistance was the special hash cookies decorated with a poppy, and the poppy seed cake that many were hoping might have some residual opium effects. We all knew it was going to be a stylish evening when we saw the hash menu on a blackboard (see photo), which had been slightly defaced by Pithhead who had arrived just after lunch in order to avoid the highway traffic, and didn't have much to do for the rest of the afternoon.

The evening was also marked by the attendance of Jam Tart, the offspring of our illustrious GM Fig Jam. We all found her to be kind, gentle, quiet, respectful, polite, and an all round nice person, which just goes to show how inexplicable genetics can really be. The GM rounded up the congregation as he stood on the verandah brandishing his big stick. There were a few envious glances at the size of this prized possession, and it was clear other hashers were coveting this paddle of princely proportions and hoping they could one day get their hands on it as well.

Pizza was asked what the run number was and rightfully responded with 111, which is his own personal run number, but received a down down for the 2053 runs he's missed. Pounda gave the run report and particularly enjoyed the domestic altercation taking place at a local residence so gave it a high score of 9 out of 10 which included extra points for the entertainment. His brother Shredder had enjoyed the regroup and drink stop, but gave it a less generous 0.9 out of 10. He was lucky the dummy was MIA because he was heard loudly complaining about the Shittenbrau beer he was being forced to drink.

Awards/Down Downs

| Grub Shirt  | Chunder                    | For foolishly making a smart a*se comment when Ned was looking for a lucky recipient of the long lost Grub Shirt. Flasher had finally handed it back as he had no intention of taking this festering, bacteria-ridden piece of apparel to his new home. |

Other Charges

| Chargee/s                                        | For                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|--------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Pizza, LAV, Ten Fingers and Fidel         | Returnees - Pizza and LAV have been frolicking in the woods, and the GM neither knew nor cared what Fidel and Ten had been up to.                                                                                         |
| Jam Tart                                  | Virgin to BNH3, and a genetically superior version of the Jam family.                                                                                                                                                     |
| Pounda &amp; Shredder                     | Being involved in mountainous cycling adventures with Cheesy, that involved riding past motorbikes.                                                                                                                       |
| Mammary Stick                             | MS has a much admired Christmas wine glass that holds half a bottle of wine, and being as generous and good hearted as ever, she had kindly left it with the Pounda/Beetaroot family for a week as a gesture of goodwill. |
| Sherbet                                   | Sherbet had an equally popular torch that was also left at Murrumba Downs for the week – although inadvertently.                                                                                                          |
| Yackety Yak                               | 50 runs                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Ned, Overproof, Abbo, Pounda and Shredder | Not heeding the advice of Qld Health who have recommended that old people should not indulge in                                                                                                                           |

|                    |                                                                                                                                      |
|--------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Ten Fingers | Something to do with a leather jacket that I didn't understand, but I'm sure will continue to result in multiple down downs for Ten. |
