HASH TRASH

It is a truth universally acknowledged that the hash trash never lies. What you are about to read either has happened, is happening now, or will happen at some time in the future. Or nearly, anyway.

Naturalist Ned set the 2020 BNH3 Attenborough Environmental Run that incorporated nesting bush turkeys, bee hives, possums and curlews. According to Jake the Astronomer Peg, this ecologically enlightened run also managed to coincide with a perfect alignment of the planets, but he was unable to be drawn on the position of Uranus. No doubt that was something to do with the full moon.

Chunda was enthralled with the wildlife (apart from the runners), and gave the run 9.123 out of 9.4. Jake the Astronomer Peg was still waxing lyrical about Uranus but managed to give the walk a 3.14 recurring out of 10.

The GM decided to add a lucky door prize to the evening's festivities and called on ET to draw the lucky ticket. M. Stick was ecstatic to hear that she was the winner (thinking she'd won a bottle of wine), only to discover that she was the lucky recipient of writing the trash... AGAIN. This resulted in a fairly emotional response from M. Stick who is still suffering from PTSD after a year of hellish trash imprisonment. To add to her woes, this less than exuberant response led to her receiving the dummy as a bonus. Happy days.

The lovely and thoughtful Flower gifted Ned a recent edition of the Seniors Magazine with a front page invitation for seniors to don their skates and start roller-blading. As Ned's last skateboarding expedition left him with a wrist full of nuts, bolts, nails, screws and metal plates, coupled with a major shoulder reconstruction, there could be a case for getting your skates on and then heading straight to Shonky Shine Lawyers to get a big payout from the Seniors Magazine for their negligent advice.
